A MESSAGE FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA PRESIDENT

Dear Faculty and Administrators:

The University of Nebraska annually presents six distinguished awards to recognize especially meritorious research, teaching, and innovative efforts by individuals and within academic departments. We are now seeking and welcome your nominations for the 2024 awards. The award recipients will be announced in the spring.

Faculty IP Innovation and Commercialization Award (FIPICA)

Honors members of the University of Nebraska faculty who have developed and nurtured new intellectual property from concept to licensing/startup business.

Outstanding Research and Creative Activity Award (ORCA)

Honors members of the University of Nebraska faculty who have conducted outstanding research or creative activity of national/international significance.

Outstanding Teaching and Instructional Creativity Award (OTICA)

Honors members of the University of Nebraska faculty who have developed meritorious and sustained records of excellence in teaching and creativity related to teaching.

Innovation, Development, and Engagement Award (IDEA)

Honors members of the University of Nebraska faculty who have extended their academic expertise beyond the boundaries of the University in ways that have enriched the broader community.

Inclusive Excellence Collaboration Award (IECA)

Honors an academic and/or administrative department or unit at the University of Nebraska that has collaborated on sustained diversity, access, and inclusion efforts that advance a culture of inclusivity and lead to increased equitable outcomes for faculty, staff, and students.

University-wide Departmental Teaching Award (UDTA)

Honors a department/unit at the University of Nebraska that has outstanding esprit de corps in its dedication to the education of students at the undergraduate, graduate, or professional levels.

Details of the awards and the nomination procedures are provided in this brochure. Please note that each award has its own requirements, selection process, and deadline for submission.

We appreciate your assistance in recognizing excellence at the University of Nebraska.

Ted Carter
President
University of Nebraska

FACULTY IP INNOVATION AND COMMERCIALIZATION AWARD (FIPICA)

►►► Description

The Faculty IP Innovation and Commercialization Award (FIPICA) shall be presented each year to honor a faculty member who has, in the course of their University career, developed and nurtured significant new intellectual property (IP) from concept to licensing/startup business.

Potential Areas of Achievement Include:

- Development of research and technology that has resulted in licensed patents or other University-marketed IP.
- Creation of a startup business based on faculty-developed and University-owned IP.

The FIPICA award is given for a sustained record of excellent accomplishment in their university career. The recipient is honored at an awards ceremony at a Board of Regents meeting, and is awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

Criteria

The award is presented to faculty with a record of sustained efforts to develop and nurture one or more elements of IP from creation, development, and licensing (including, in some cases, startup business development). Their efforts in developing and nurturing the IP should have gone beyond the ordinary expectations of faculty work. Recipients are honored annually, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

Eligibility

Award eligibility is intended to be for full-time University of Nebraska faculty members. Faculty members with reduced FTE for the purposes of engaging in the further development of university-owned IP (including SBIR grant holders) ARE eligible for this award. A major part of the work on which each nomination is based must have been done while the nominee served at the University of Nebraska. Ordinarily, a nominee will have been at the University of Nebraska for at least 5 years.

A nominee is eligible for three consecutive years and must be resubmitted by the nominator each year. At the end of three years, a one-year waiting period is required before a nominee is eligible to be nominated again.

In the event of the death of a candidate, eligibility for that deceased candidate will extend only to include the academic year in which he or she died. No eligibility will be carried forward to subsequent years.

Committee

Each Chancellor will establish a campus process to review possible nominees and may sanction a maximum of three nominees for consideration by the Awards Selection Committee.

The sanctioned nominees must be emailed to Kelly Dick at: evpp@nebraska.edu no later than December 1, 2023.

The Provost appoints an Awards Selection Committee to review the campus-sanctioned nominations; the committee will submit its awardee recommendations to the Provost. This six-member committee will consist of one faculty member from each campus and the Presidents of NuTech Ventures and UNeMed Corporation. Faculty committee members serve staggered, three-year terms.

NOMINATION MATERIAL REQUIREMENTS (FIPICA)

▶▶▶ Nomination materials must be submitted via nuramp.nebraska.edu by November 13, 2023. The website will prompt you for the following information:

1. Nomination data entered in the online form (see page 6).
2. Letters from the nominator and seconder(s) summarizing and providing specific examples of the nominee's accomplishments in the creation, development, and nurturing of IP into a licensed product(s) and/or startup business. Nominators may be faculty, administrators, community members, or alumni. The letters should clearly substantiate the significance of the nominee's IP to the University, Nebraska, and the intended community to which it is useful. No person should act as nominator or seconder for more than one nominee.
3. A current curriculum vitae of the nominee.
4. Evidence of the nominee's most significant accomplishments. Evidence to be considered might be patents, licenses, testimonials, marketing materials (including website and video link), non-confidential business plans, etc. Limit evidence to not more than 25 pages of material.

The 2023 Faculty IP Innovation and Commercialization Award winner: Howard Gendelman, UNMC.

OUTSTANDING RESEARCH AND CREATIVE ACTIVITY AWARD (ORCA)

Two ORCA Awards are presented each year honoring outstanding research or creative activity of national/international significance conducted by individual, full-time faculty members at the University of Nebraska. The awards are given for a sustained record of excellent accomplishment in research or creative activity, rather than “meritorious service.”

Only one award may be presented in each of the two following academic areas (an award need not be made to either group in any given year):

GROUP 1: Arts and Humanities (including Creative and Performing Arts), Business and Social Sciences, and Professional Education; and GROUP 2: Biological Sciences, Physical Sciences, and Medical Sciences.

The recipients are honored at an annual awards ceremony, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

The ORCA awards are given for a sustained record of excellent accomplishment in research or creative activity. The recipients are honored at an awards ceremony at a Board of Regents meeting, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

Eligibility

- Nominations of full-time faculty members must be for one individual only and not for a couple or team.
- A major part of the work on which each nomination is based must have been done while the nominee has served at the University of Nebraska. Each nominee must still be engaged in research or other creative activity at the University to be eligible.
- Nominees are eligible for three consecutive years and must be resubmitted by the nominator each year. At the end of three years, a one-year waiting period is required before a nominee is eligible to be nominated again.
- In the event of the death of a candidate, eligibility for that deceased candidate will extend only to include the academic year in which he or she died. No eligibility will be carried forward to subsequent years.

Committee

The first screening of nominations will be done at the campus level. Each Chancellor will establish a campus committee to screen the nominations received. The selection procedure of the screening committee will emphasize the outstanding contributions made by nominees to the institution’s research mission.

Campuses must email their sanctioned nominees to Kelly Dick at: evpp@nebraska.edu no later than December 1, 2023.

The provost selects eight members representing six major academic areas: Arts and Humanities, Business and Social Sciences, Professional Education, Biological/Agricultural Sciences, Physical Sciences, and Medical Sciences from the Graduate Faculty of the University of Nebraska to serve three-year terms on the Awards Selection Committee. This committee reviews the nominations and determines the final winners.

NOMINATION MATERIAL REQUIREMENTS (ORCA)

▶▶▶ Nomination materials must be submitted via nuramp.nebraska.edu by November 13, 2023. The website will prompt you for the following information:

1. Nomination data entered in the online form (see page 9).
2. Letters from the nominator and seconder summarizing and giving specific examples of the nominee's accomplishments in research or creative activity. The letters (each no more than five pages in length) may include any information on the nominee's research or creative activity. The letters should clearly substantiate the national/international significance of the nominee's work, as well as the nominee's continued involvement in research or other creative activity. No faculty member should act as nominator or seconder for more than one nominee. Additional letters of recommendation from within the University should not be solicited.
3. A current curriculum vitae of the nominee.
4. A list of the nominee's most significant publications or other creative works. Evidence presented for consideration might be publications (preferably refereed), books, invited talks at symposia, shows, honors, and awards.
5. Names, addresses, emails, and telephone numbers of five peer reviewers from outside the University of Nebraska system who have been asked by the nominator to provide letters in support of the nomination (see below).

The nominator(s) shall contact the five peer reviewers they listed on the online nomination form to solicit support letters (see page 10). These letters are to be emailed directly to the Office of the Provost by November 13, 2023. Only peer reviewer letters that are sent directly to the Provost's Office by the referees themselves will be accepted* (evpp@nebraska.edu). Nominators are encouraged to call the Provost's Office to ensure their letters were received. The nominator is to share the memo (example on page 10) titled "Memorandum to Peer Reviewers" with the peer reviewers; this memorandum includes information about the award and guidelines to follow in writing letters of support.

CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN TO CONTACT PEERS IN AMPLE TIME SO CAN EMAIL THEIR REPLIES PRIOR TO THE DEADLINE OF NOVEMBER 13.

The 2023 Outstanding Research and Creative Activity Award winner: Rick Bevins, UNL.

OUTSTANDING RESEARCH AND CREATIVE ACTIVITY AWARD (ORCA) NOMINATION DATA

▶▶▶ The ORCA Award is presented in recognition of outstanding research or other creative activity of national/international significance conducted by full-time faculty members of the University of Nebraska (NU). The production of such significant work is the principal criterion on which the selection of award recipients is based. Nominations must be for one individual only and not for a couple or a team. A major part of the work on which each nomination is based must have been done while the nominee has served at the University of Nebraska, and each nominee must still be engaged in research or other creative activity at the University of Nebraska to be eligible.

MEMORANDUM TO PEER REVIEWERS FOR THE ORCA AWARD

- ▶▶▶ The following should be used to solicit peer review support letters. (A letterhead/PDF version is available on nuramp.nebraska.edu at the application step where nominees identify outside reviewers.)

To: Peer Reviewers of Candidates for the University of Nebraska Outstanding Research and Creative Activity (ORCA) Award

From: ORCA Awards Selection Committee

Letters of support from five peer reviewers outside the University of Nebraska system are required for the nomination of a faculty member for the Outstanding Research and Creative Activity Award, which was established to recognize research and creative activity of national or international significance conducted at the University of Nebraska. Nominations are solicited from the faculties of the University of Nebraska–Lincoln, University of Nebraska at Omaha, University of Nebraska Medical Center, and University of Nebraska at Kearney.

Two “ORCA” awards are given each year—one for a faculty member in the areas of arts and humanities (including the creative and performing arts), business and social sciences, and professional education, and one for a faculty member in the areas of biological sciences, medical sciences, and physical sciences. ORCA recipients are honored annually, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and a plaque.

Thank you for agreeing to write a letter of support on behalf of one of the professors who has been nominated for this prestigious award. Your support letter will be shared with the members of the Awards Selection Committee, which is composed of professors from a wide variety of disciplines and is intended to represent a cross-section of the University of Nebraska community. With that in mind, your letter will best represent the candidate if it is addressed to scholars of any discipline, avoiding technical terminology, and placing the candidate’s achievements and contributions in a wide and broad context.

In the support letter, you may want to address the following questions:

1. Which of the professor’s works do you regard as most important?
2. What has been the influence of this work on the development of the field?
3. How does the professor rank among other scholars in this discipline nationwide?

Please email your letter of support by November 13 to:

Ms. Kelly Dick
ORCA Awards Selection Committee
Provost’s Office
University of Nebraska

If you have any questions, please contact Kelly Dick at: (402) 472-5242 | evpp@nebraska.edu.

OUTSTANDING TEACHING AND INSTRUCTIONAL CREATIVITY AWARD (OTICA)

Up to two OTICA Awards are presented each year to full-time faculty members of the University of Nebraska in honor and recognition of meritorious and sustained records of excellence in teaching and creativity related to teaching. Both awards may be made to the same campus in a given year.

The recipients are honored at an annual awards ceremony, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

The OTICA awards are given in honor and recognition of meritorious and sustained records of excellence in teaching and creativity related to teaching. The recipients are honored at an awards ceremony at a Board of Regents meeting, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

Eligibility

- Faculty members who have served full-time at the University for at least five years are eligible.
- Nominees are eligible for three consecutive years and must be resubmitted by the campus each year. At the end of three years, a one-year waiting period is required before a nominee is eligible to be nominated again. Each resubmission should be accompanied by one new letter of support. Self-nominations are acceptable.
- An individual who has received the award will be known as a Distinguished Teacher Ad Perpetuum and is not eligible for re-nomination for the award.
- In the event of the death of a candidate, eligibility for that deceased candidate will extend only to include the academic year in which he or she died. No eligibility will be carried forward to subsequent years.

Committee and Nominations

The first screening of nominations will be done at the campus level. Each Chancellor will establish a campus committee to screen the nominations received. The selection procedure of the screening committee will emphasize the outstanding contributions made by nominees to the institution's teaching mission.

The sanctioned nominees must be emailed to Kelly Dick at: evpp@nebraska.edu no later than December 1, 2023.

The provost appoints an Awards Selection Committee to review the campus-sanctioned nominations; the committee will submit its awardee recommendations to the Provost. This five-member committee consists of faculty nominated by the Academic Vice Chancellors, including two members from UNL and one from each of the other campuses. Members of the committee serve staggered, three-year terms.

NOMINATION MATERIAL REQUIREMENTS (OTICA)

▶▶▶ Nomination materials must be submitted via nuramp.nebraska.edu by November 13, 2023. The website will prompt you for the following information:

1. Nomination data entered in the online form (see page 13).
2. Letters from the nominator and the seconder summarizing and giving specific examples of the nominee's accomplishments in teaching. The nominator and seconder should emphasize the impact of the nominee's accomplishments in motivating students to develop the full range of their intellectual talents. Nominators can be faculty, students, or alumni. No one should serve as nominator or seconder for more than one nominee. A nomination made by a student must be seconded by a full-time faculty member. The student may be assisted in the creation of the nomination by the nominee or other faculty. This assistance may include, for example, providing advice on obtaining letters of recommendation, collecting evaluation instruments, etc., so that the nomination by a student may be competitive.
3. A one-page statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy.
4. A current curriculum vitae of the nominee (limited to six pages), preferably emphasizing the teaching accomplishments of the nominee.
5. A summary of student and peer evaluations of the nominee's teaching, including specific comparative data as evidence that the nominee's teaching is clearly superior to the norm established by his/her peers and including evidence of teaching effectiveness. Individual student evaluation forms are not to be included, however, questions used to solicit student evaluations may be included.
6. A condensed description of the nominee's creative activities relating to teaching. Course syllabi or textbooks are not to be included. The Awards Selection Committee prefers to receive carefully devised nominations without voluminous and repetitive support information.
7. No more than five letters of support (preferably written within the past three years) from students (current or former) suggested by the nominee, who have direct knowledge of and who have been directly impacted by the nominee. Letters from students should include commentary on: (1) the impact of the nominee's teaching activity; and (2) how the nominee compares with other faculty in areas of teaching excellence and creativity.
8. No more than three letters of support from peer reviewers (preferably written within the past three years) solicited by the nominator about the quality of the nominee's teaching contributions. Letters from peer reviewers should include commentary on: (1) the importance and appropriateness of the nominee's teaching activity for his or her particular field; (2) the impact of the nominee's teaching activity; and (3) the outstanding contributions of the nominee to teaching excellence and instructional creativity.

The 2023 Outstanding Teaching and Instructional Creativity Award winners: Betty Love, UNO and Geoffery Talmon, UNMC.

INNOVATION, DEVELOPMENT AND ENGAGEMENT AWARD (IDEA)

Up to two IDEA Awards shall be presented each year to honor faculty members who have extended their academic expertise beyond the boundaries of the University in ways that have enriched the broader community. These faculty members have worked with citizens, businesses, government, and non-profit organizations, other educational institutions, communities, or regions to develop new ideas, projects, technologies, or events resulting in new development that strengthened the region or community economically, culturally, environmentally, or governmentally.

Potential Areas of Achievement Include:

- Creation of new regional, national, or international partnerships across public and private sectors that foster economic growth.
- Initiatives that promote improved health, environment, and social services.
- Partnerships with schools and communities that improve quality and access to education.
- Cultural activities that enrich the community's understanding of the arts, letters, and history of the state, nation, and world.
- Service, research and consultation with government, social agencies, community organizations, and other civic or private groups working to build a better society.

Criteria

The awards are presented to faculty with a sustained record of excellent accomplishments, over several years, that is above and beyond their normal job duties and documented impact in the creation of partnerships with businesses, schools, or communities; or initiatives that improve social or cultural understanding, or economic growth in ways that go beyond the ordinary expectations of faculty work. Recipients are honored at a Board of Regents meeting, and each are awarded $10,000, a presidential medallion, and an engraved plaque.

Eligibility

Only those with full-time faculty appointments are eligible to be nominated. A major part of the work on which each nomination is based must have been done while the nominee served at the University of Nebraska; ordinarily, a nominee will have been at the University of Nebraska for at least 10 years. Each nominee must still be actively involved in outreach and engagement with the state, region, or community as part of his or her work at the University.

A nominee is eligible for three consecutive years and must be resubmitted by the nominator each year. At the end of three years, a one-year waiting period is required before a nominee is eligible to be nominated again.

In the event of the death of a candidate, eligibility for that deceased candidate will extend only to include the academic year in which he or she died. No eligibility will be carried forward to subsequent years.

Committee

Each Chancellor will establish a campus process to review possible nominees.

The sanctioned nominees must be emailed to Kelly Dick at: evpp@nebraska.edu no later than Decemeber 1, 2023.

The Provost appoints an Awards Selection Committee to review the campus-sanctioned nominations; the committee will submit its awardee recommendations to the Provost. This eight-member committee will consist of one faculty member from each campus and four community members from at least two different communities. Members of the committee serve staggered, three-year terms.

NOMINATION MATERIAL REQUIREMENTS (IDEA)

▶▶▶ Nomination materials must be submitted via nuramp.nebraska.edu by November 13, 2023. The website will prompt you for the following information:

1. Nomination data entered in the online form (see page 16).
2. Letters from the nominator and seconder summarizing and giving specific examples of the nominee's accomplishments in innovation, development, and engagement. Nominators can be faculty, community members, or alumni. The letters should clearly substantiate the state/regional/national significance of the nominee's work beyond the boundaries of the University, as well as the nominee's continued involvement in community leadership. No person should act as nominator or seconder for more than one nominee.
3. A current curriculum vitae of the nominee.
4. Evidence of the nominee's most significant accomplishments. Evidence to be considered might be letters from organizations or community leaders, publications, patents, honors, awards, programs delivered that impact economic development, applied research activities, service on community boards and committees, and other community activities.

The 2023 Innovation, Development and Engagement Award winner: Dejun Su, UNMC.

The nominators shall contact the five peer reviewers listed in the online nomination form to solicit support letters (see page 17).

These letters should be from the leaders of community, business, private, governmental, non-profit, cultural, or educational organizations from outside the University of Nebraska system. Each letter should include full contact information for its author.

The nominator is to share the text titled "Memorandum to Outside Reviewers" with each reviewer (page 17); the memorandum includes information about the award and guidelines to follow in writing letters of support.

INCLUSIVE EXCELLENCE COLLABORATION AWARD (IECA)

The IECA Award is presented each year to honor sustained, outstanding contributions in diversity and inclusion between two or more University of Nebraska academic and/or administrative units or campuses that move the university system toward inclusive excellence.

The academic and/or administrative departments/units or campuses will exemplify significant advancement and proven outcomes in inclusive excellence evidenced by successful and sustainable diversity, access, and inclusion effort(s). Efforts must impact one or more of the University of Nebraska’s diversity and inclusion priority areas that correlate with the inclusive excellence framework, and the President’s Cornerstones.

The award will only be given when merited and need not be made in any given year.

The honored administrative and/or academic department/unit or campus will be recognized at a Board of Regents meeting, and will be awarded $25,000 to support diversity, access, and inclusion efforts on campus, an engraved plaque, and be featured on the University of Nebraska website. Funds can be used for participation in conferences focused on (Diversity and Inclusion) best practices, diversity curriculum efforts, purchasing diversity and inclusion instructional materials, or supporting the cost of delivering diversity and inclusion development opportunities (e.g., workshops, presentations, seminars).

WHAT IS INCLUSIVE EXCELLENCE?

- ▶▶▶ Developed in 2005 through the efforts of the Association of American Colleges and Universities \(AAC&U\), Inclusive Excellence is a research-based approach that integrates diversity and inclusion efforts into core institutional operations. For the purposes of this award, diversity, inclusion, and equity will be defined by the AAC&U's guiding principles, which have been adopted for use by the University of Nebraska.

Diversity, Inclusion and Equity Definitions

Diversity: Individual differences (e.g., personality, learning styles, and life experiences) and group/social differences (e.g., race/ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, country of origin, and ability as well as cultural, political, religious, or other affiliations).

Inclusion: The active, intentional, and ongoing engagement with diversity in ways that increase awareness, content knowledge, cognitive sophistication, and empathic understanding of the complex ways individuals interact within systems and institutions.

Equity: The creation of opportunities for equal access to address an achievement or success gap.

Equity-Mindedness: A demonstrated awareness of and willingness to address equity issues among institutional leaders and staff.

Eligibility

- Any University of Nebraska administrative and/or academic departments/units or campuses may be nominated for the award by a vice chancellor, assistant vice chancellor, dean, department chair, or director.
- Signature of approval must be provided by the chancellor for each nomination.
- Nominations must be based on sustained efforts where qualitative, quantitative, and/or longitudinal data are available.
- Awarded departments/units or campuses are eligible for three consecutive years and must be resubmitted by a nominator each year. At the end of three years, a one-year waiting period is required before the campus departments/units are eligible for nomination again.

Committee and Nominations

Each Chancellor will establish a campus committee and process to conduct the initial screening of nominations to select those forwarded to the IECA Selection Committee.

The sanctioned nominees must be emailed to Kelly Dick at: evpp@nebraska.edu no later than December 1, 2023.

The Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer along with the President or Executive Vice President and Provost's designee will assemble a six-member selection committee comprised of four campus members with demonstrated commitment to diversity, and two community stakeholders. Committee members will be nominated by the campuses' Chief Academic Officers and will serve staggered three-year terms.

NOMINATION MATERIAL REQUIREMENTS (IECA)

▶▶▶ Nomination materials must be submitted via nuramp.nebraska.edu by November 13, 2023.

1. Nomination data

(See potential areas of achievement and criteria below.)

2. A nomination letter clearly substantiating the significance of the collaboration's effectiveness of diversity and inclusion strategies.
3. Names, addresses, email, and telephone numbers of lead collaborating partners (optional).
4. The nomination document will be limited to five pages and the text should be no smaller than 11 pt. font.
5. Up to three supporting documents of the submitter's choosing.
6. Items must be submitted in a single PDF document not to exceed 12 pages in total (all supporting materials combined).

Potential Areas of Achievement and Criteria (IECA)

1. Nomination narrative should be no longer than five pages in length, no less than 11-point font, and should clearly substantiate the significance of the campus' work in inclusive excellence and outcomes. Examples of efforts in support of the nomination may include but are not limited to the following:
 - Outreach and recruitment efforts that encourage persons of underrepresented groups to seek employment with the institution and/or retention efforts for those underrepresented groups.
 - Efforts that address disparities in the recruitment and retention/promotion rates of faculty and staff that are underrepresented at the institution.
 - Programs and services that incorporate best practices for underrepresented student recruitment, retention, achievement, and graduation.
2. Nomination narrative or supporting documentation (not to exceed 12 pages) also must show evidence of sustained efforts and provide qualitative, quantitative and/or longitudinal data. The narrative should also make a defensible case for award consideration.

UNIVERSITY-WIDE DEPARTMENTAL TEACHING AWARD (UDTA)

One UDTA Award is presented each year in honor and recognition of a department/unit within the University of Nebraska that has made a unique and significant contribution to the teaching efforts of the University and that has outstanding esprit de corps in its dedication to the education of students at the undergraduate, graduate, or professional levels.

The honored department is awarded $25,000. These funds may be used in whatever manner the department sees fit. For example, funds could be used to support travel to a conference of a pedagogical nature, purchase instructional equipment, or improve the physical surroundings of a classroom or student resource center.

The UDTA award is presented each year in honor and recognition of a department/unit within the University of Nebraska that has made a unique and significant contribution to the teaching efforts of the University.

The honored department is recognized at a Board of Regents meeting, is awarded $25,000, an engraved plaque, and is featured on the University of Nebraska website.

Eligibility

Most commonly, a teaching excellence award will be given to a department. However, because of the diverse programs within the University, there are instances in which the department is not the most appropriate unit for receiving an award (e.g., in some interdisciplinary or professional degree programs). While it will be possible for these programs to be considered for an award, it will be the responsibility of such units to make a defensible case for their inclusion. Non-departmental units should make a special effort to justify why their unit is appropriately included in the competition for this award. No programs will be excluded from consideration. Professional degree programs in fields such as law, architecture, and medicine will compete on equal footing with traditional baccalaureate and graduate degree programs. In the remainder of these guidelines, the term “department” refers to the nominated unit. Normally, nominated departments will be considered as a whole. For example, graduate and undergraduate missions would not be considered separately. However, if a nominated department believes it has a mission that merits special consideration, it may make such a request. Again, it will be the responsibility of such units to make a defensible case.

Committee and Nominations

Each Chancellor will establish a campus committee and a process to conduct the initial screening of nominations to select those to be forwarded to an Awards Selection Committee. The selection procedure of the screening committee will emphasize the outstanding contributions made by the department to the institution’s dedication of educating students.

The sanctioned nominees must be emailed to Kelly Dick at: evpp@nebraska.edu no later than December 1, 2023.

The provost appoints an Awards Selection Committee to review the nominations from the campuses; the committee will submit its recommendations to the Provost. The six-member committee consists of faculty nominated by the Academic Vice Chancellors, including two members from UNL and UNMC and one from UNK and UNO. Committee members will serve staggered, three-year terms.

NOMINATION MATERIAL REQUIREMENTS (UDTA)

▶▶▶ Nomination materials must be submitted via nuramp.nebraska.edu by November 13, 2023. The website will prompt you for the following information:

1. Nomination data (see page 25).
2. Nominating document. The main body of the document will be limited to 10 pages and the text should not exceed 4,500 words. Although there is no formal prescribed format for the body of the nomination document, each nominated unit should include its history, role/mission, future plans, and strengths. Evaluation guidelines will be flexible enough to accommodate the many teaching missions across the University. It is not possible to specify inclusive criteria for teaching excellence that would apply to all departments or programs. The use of headings that match the criteria shown on page 21 are encouraged.

Within this framework, the general criterion should be the “instructional culture” of the nominated department (or another unit). “Instructional culture” implies an attitude toward teaching ingrained in the entire department. This should be reflected in many ways, including the regular program review process, outcome assessment data, and the program’s reputation outside the institution. Having a few “superstar” teachers is not sufficient to earn a nominated department the award. Instructional quality should be emphasized, not instructional quantity. Data such as student credit hours per full-time equivalent is inappropriate, except insofar as it shows that high quality is maintained in such a milieu. Key criteria to be considered when preparing the nomination are discussed on the following page.

Supporting materials not to exceed 30 pages to accommodate the difficult task of the Selection Committee.

Nominations exceeding documentation guidelines will not be considered.

KEY CRITERIA TO BE CONSIDERED WHEN PREPARING AWARD NOMINATIONS (UDTA)

▶▶▶ The key criteria that should be followed in all nomination materials are provided below. These are meant to be heuristic; the list is not complete. Although most of the questions on the checklist are “generic,” it will be difficult for some units to answer all of them and there is no implication that every criterion will be appropriate to every unit. The list may be thought of as a set of possible criteria that should be considered, if appropriate. It is intended as a device to assist departments in preparing applications and defining their instructional cultures, and it is helpful to the awards selection committee during deliberations. We strongly encourage applicants to use applicable headings to organize their submitted materials. Non-departmental units applying for this award should make a special effort to justify why their unit is appropriately included in this competition.

1. How do you demonstrate *esprit de corps in the dedication to the education of students?
2. How does the nominated department use incentives (promotion and tenure, salary increases, teaching awards, etc.) to encourage teaching excellence?
3. What efforts does the nominated department make to develop good teaching (colloquia, “teaching circles,” mentoring, graduate teaching assistant training, etc.)? How is your curriculum innovative? Identify and describe examples of innovative teaching within the unit. Include grant support specific to improved or innovative teaching.
4. Do faculty participate in conferences, etc., in which the primary focus is on instruction?
5. What contribution does the nominated department make to scholarship on instruction (research, textbooks, etc.)? What is the impact of these contributions?
6. Is effective use made of new technologies or methods in the classroom?
7. What support is there for students (advising, mentoring, honors programs, student association, internships, etc.)? Are students trained in the modes and styles of communication appropriate to the discipline?
8. What is the quality of the major or program? This may be assessed through accreditation programs, performance on national tests, graduate or professional school placement, employment, alumni surveys, student ratings, external reviews, student evaluations, testimonials, etc.
9. What is the quality of the nominated department’s program for non-majors (if applicable)? Is it taken seriously? Are experienced faculty involved? Are faculty rewarded for this work? Are there an adequate number of courses? Is the curriculum well planned? What reputation does it have with other departments? What are the results of student ratings, external review, testimonials, etc.?
10. What is the quality of the graduate or professional program (if applicable)? This may be assessed through such factors as accreditation, curriculum development, quality of student research, external support for research or professional service, student participation in national meetings, student publication, student employment after graduation, student ratings of the program, alumni surveys, external reviews, testimonials, etc.
11. If part-time faculty, graduate teaching assistants, non-tenure-track instructors, etc., play a role in the nominated department’s teaching, how are they brought into the “instructional culture”?
12. What is the quality of teaching in “outreach” programs or other off-campus activities that may be part of the department’s instructional mission?
