The University of Nebraska has an important economic impact on the state of Nebraska.

When you support the University, you invest in the future of the state.
We’re working hard for small-town Nebraska.

The University of Nebraska is helping to strengthen rural communities. Through our Rural Futures Institute, we’ve awarded two $50,000 grants to support projects that improve the quality of life in rural areas.

"There is no substitute for local knowledge," said Dr. Richard M. Harrell, director of the institute. "We want to ensure that people in these communities have access to the resources they need to thrive."
